

I am writing to tell the FCC commissioners to not allow Cable companies to grow larger by mergers and acquisitions. Cable companies have already become powerful enough to dictate policies to municipalities and the U.S. Governmnet. This is already too powerful!

I oppose further relaxing of cable ownership limits. I also oppose the Comcast-Time Warner buy-out of Adelphia Communications. Such a merger serves only corporate interests, not the public interest.

The FCC seems to have forgotten that its responsibility is to protect the public and promote the widest social benefit from the available communication links, not to be a shill for some of the most profitable corporations on the planet.

Thank you,

Mr Armin Wright
